GAIN BY TROOPS OF CROWN PRINCE

In Western Argonne Army Advances on Three-mile Front.

1,710 MADE PRISONERS

Berlin Report Tells of Retreat of Russians After Action—Von Linsingen in Pursuit.

Berlin (via wire) to London, July 2.—The report issued from headquarters, western theater of war, today reads:

"A night attack against our positions west of Souchez was beaten off."

"In the western portion of the Argonne a part of the army under the German crown prince stormed a point D'Appui, northwest of Four-De Paris and advanced in a storm over a front of five kilometers (more than three miles) penetrating to a depth of between 20 and 300 meters. This movement was carried out by Wurttemberg troops.

"Twenty-five officers and 1,710 men were made prisoners. Eighteen machine guns, forty mine throwers and one revolver were captured. The French losses in killed and wounded were important.

500 Made Prisoners.

"In the Vosges, on Hugelst, we took an enemy work. Attempts made by the enemy to recapture it were repulsed. Three officers and 19 men fell into our hands.

"In the southeastern theater: After storming the heights southeast of Kurostowice, north of Hliza, the Russians along the whole front from the district of Marian Pol to just north of Pielawa were obliged to retreat. Gen. von Linsingen is pursuing the defeated enemy.

Three Rivers Crossed.

"Up to yesterday we had taken 7,755 prisoners, of whom eleven were officers. We also captured eighteen machine guns.

"The army of Von Mackensen has driven back the enemy west of Zamoc, and after continuous fighting over the Lubanka-Por sector has crossed these rivers at several places.

"Further to the west, the enemy positions on the line of Turbin-Krasnik-Jozefow (the latter on the Vistula) was reached at the forward positions of Stronza and Krasnik. These latter places themselves were occupied by us yesterday evening.

"West of the Vistula the Russians, under pressure of our attack, evacuated the bridgehead position opposite Talow, and the banks of the Kamienna are now clear of the enemy.

"Troops under Gen. von Worrach, after successful fighting, have driven the Russians out of their positions southeast of Lono and the French took 700 prisoners of the Grenadier Corps."

RICHMOND M. D. PRISONER OF GERMANS ON U-BOAT

Dr. J. S. Vise and Other Members of Crew of Torpedoed Leyland Liner Armenian—Cabin Boy Tells Remarkable Story of Disaster.

By HAYDEN TALBOT.

Cardiff, Wales, July 2.—Several members of the crew of the torpedoed Ley-land liner Armenian, among them Dr.
J. S. Vise, of Richmond, Va., were made prisoners by the German submarine U-3, which sank the steamship, according to survivors, who are in Cardiff. Those taken on board the U-3 were picked up out of the water after a shell, from the submarine had cut the ropes of a life-boat which was being lowered.

Instead of placing them in another boat, however, the Germans retained them.

It is declared that, while the Germans showed concern for the whites they acted toward the negroes with the most inhumanity. The negroes were thrown into the water when the ropes of the life-boat were cut toward the submarine.

When they tried to clamber on board the German sailors kicked their hands.

Capt. J. Trickle, of the Armenian, was the last man to leave his ship.

An exciting story is told by Ernest Robert Talbot, a 15-year-old cabin boy, and it has all the thrills of a sea tale by Robert Louis Stevenson.

Brothers Meet by Chance.

"That was my first trip," said young Talbot, who was among the thirty-seven persons who left the Armenian in the first lifeboat. It was this lifeboat that was plunged into the water by a German shell cutting the ropes.

"The boat was half way down when along came a shell and clipped the ropes clean. We all tumbled into the water and began swimming around. I guess I must have been in the water for an hour before I was picked up by another boat, which I found to contain my brother. We were in the lifeboat about twelve hours.

Add 147 Ships to Merchant Fleet.

Merchant vessels built in the United States and officially numbered by the Bureau of Navigation, Department of Commerce, during the fiscal year, which ended June 30, were 1,225 of 215,711 gross tons, compared with 1,231 of 211,578 gross tons for the fiscal year 1914. During the past ten months, under the ship registry act of August 8, 1914, to the American merchant fleet, 147 foreign-built vessels making the total for the year from both sources 1,373 vessels of 244,615 gross tons.

Commits Suicide in Street.

David Crockett, 27, colored, of 415 Q street northwest, committed suicide yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock at the corner of Fourth and Q streets by shooting himself in the right temple with a 38-caliber revolver. The body was taken to the Eighth Precinct police station and later was turned over to an undertaker.

Wilson Will Act
SOON ON MEXICO

Secretary Lansing Indicates Matter Is in Hands of the President.

Officials of the State Department admitted yesterday that conditions in Mexico are regarded by the department "as intolerable," and it is for the President to now decide what action shall be taken.

The statement was made that the President is intensely interested in the development, and all the means received by the department is rushed to him at Cornish, N. H.

In the opinion of officials, the solution of the problem must come either by intervention or the successful application of a plan which the President is supposed to have in mind, but which he has not yet revealed.

This plan is understood to contemplate one of two things: Either to increase pressure on Carranza to compel him to negotiate, or to intervene entirely and bring to the remaining leaders, to choose a candidate for President.

Until a radical change has been effected in conditions in Mexico, the Red Cross will not attempt to expand, and may not continue, the famine relief work initiated there following President Wilson's appeal to the country four weeks ago today.

The Red Cross authorities have found that the conditions under which they have attempted to relieve the suffering in Mexico are such that the work cannot be conducted consistently with the fundamental principles of the Red Cross organization. To send food into Mexico in the existing circumstances is likened to pouring water through a sieve in that it brings no results.

DETAILS ARE AWAITED
AS TO THE ARMENIAN

Officials Believe Case Is Less Serious Than Was at First Feared.

While the State Department is still awaiting the receipt of complete official reports on the case of the British steamship Armenian, the destruction of which by a German submarine caused the death of a number of Americans, it was indicated yesterday that the case is regarded as much less serious from the American point of view than was at first feared.

The majority of opinion in official quarters yesterday seemed to incline to the view that the action of the Armenian in persisting in trying to escape though under fire from the submarine for an hour, may be accepted as partial, if not complete, justification for the action of the German warship. The captain of the Armenian, it is declared, should have stopped his vessel after she was fired at.

It is admitted that the captain's continued effort to get away would have been a good thing for the vessel and those on board if it had succeeded, but that he showed poor judgment in subjecting his vessel and his crew to the German shell fire, is also the general opinion here.

COLONIAL BEACH OUTINGS.

Special Holiday Schedule Arranged by Steamer St. Johns.

Delightful outings over the Independence Day holidays can be enjoyed at Colonial Beach and the schedule of the big steamer St. Johns has been arranged to meet all needs. She will leave here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and again tomorrow and Monday at 9 a. m. Returning, she leaves the Beach at 4 p. m. Saturday and Monday and arrives home about 10 p. m.

Colonial Beach offers ideal advantages for a summer vacation at the minimum expense. It has all the advantages of the New Jersey coast resorts in the fine bathing and fishing and has the additional aquatic pleasures of safe boating and fine crabbing.

Did you ever catch a big green Potomac crab? If not a novel pleasure awaits you when you visit Colonial Beach this summer. The crabbing at the resort is made daily from the Steamer Colonial Beach, leaving here each day, except Sunday, at 9 a. m. and Saturday at 2:30 p. m. The hotels and boarding houses at Colonial Beach are all open and ready for the reception of guests, and the boardwalk amusements are in full operation. Dull times are unknown at Colonial Beach.

THAW GRINS AT BRAINSTORMTALE

Attorneys Battle Over Testimony on Sanity of Slayer.

PRISONER'S WILL READ

Letters to Evelyn Told of Desire to Become "Senator from Pittsburgh."

New York, July 2.—How Harry Thaw hurled a beer bottle through his cell window and howling out in rage when he was ordered deported from Canada was laid before the jury which will pass upon his sanity in Justice Hendrick's court today.

Frank M. McFadden and Harry Groux, Canadian policemen at Coastcove, who saw the deportation notice on Thaw in the early morning of September 5, 1912, at the Coastcove jail, called by the State, described the alleged "brainstorm" from which Thaw suffered.

Thaw laughed all the while they were testifying.

"Did his actions impress you as rational or irrational?" McFadden was asked by Deputy Attorney General Bran-berger.

"I would say irrational."

This testimony was the first concrete blow at the case which the Thaw forces have built up for their client and Stanch-field went at the witness savagely on cross-examination.

Called "Dangerously Mad."

He brought out the fact that the order of deportation was served on Thaw without any notification to his counsel and that Thaw was not even given a chance to get his breakfast.

Groux, who took the stand after Mc-Fadden had explained that Thaw looks better now than when he saw him the morning of the deportation, described Harry as being "dangerously mad" on that occasion. He also told of the bottle throwing incident.

"As Thaw was going down stairs in the jail," he said, "he threw his hands before him and cried 'take those men away.' There might have been one or two men standing about the steps, but they were not bothering him any way."

Cross-examination brought out the fact favorable to Thaw that among those standing nearby when Thaw cried that he was being kidnapped was Capt. Lanyon, a detective employed by Jerome, and the broad inference made by Stanchfield was that Lanyon's presence gave Thaw just cause for his fear of kidnapping in view of Jerome's threats to take Thaw back to New York.

Stanchfield also turned a laugh on Thaw's irrational actions on the morning of the deportation.

"Thaw was excited," began the lawyer.

"Any body else excited that morning?"

"Oh, yes."

"The whole town was excited over the affair, wasn't it?"

"And the whole town was probably irrational," commented Stanchfield dismissing the witness.

Previous to this testimony the State introduced the testimony of two policemen who were on duty at the West Thirtieth street police station the night Thaw was taken there under arrest.
